Break-through new company, WorkSpace Communications™ debuts

Company will deliver cost-effective, easily-managed unified communications solutions to small- and mid-sized companies nationwide.

Overland Park, Kan., Feb. 18, 2009 –WorkSpace Communications™, a company specializing in subscription-based, unified communications solutions, today announced the availability of its services on a nationwide basis. The company will deliver comprehensive unified communications solutions designed specifically for the small-to mid-sized business sector. WorkSpace Communications™ is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Overland Park-based CXO Global Solutions.

WorkSpace Communications™ delivers a fully integrated communications portfolio that combines business applications and communications capabilities – phone, voicemail, broadband, instant messaging, email, calendar, audio/video and web conferencing. By linking all communication applications together, the unified communications solution creates a truly collaborative, mobile workforce. The solution uses a “presence” tool that enables employees to assess availability of co-workers” ” and communicate with each other throughout the day, regardless of location. For example, mobile workers will know if the person they are looking to speak with is available, occupied on another call, in a meeting or away from the computer. The integrated platform transforms how businesses communicate and collaborate within a mobile environment.

WorkSpace Communications™ is unique in that it offers the Microsoft Unified Communications platform, combined with additional features such as VoIP, ACD and analog services, on a software-as-a-service (SaaS) or subscription-based option. This means companies simply pay a monthly per-employee fee to access the capabilities, while the equipment and software are housed and managed in a secure WorkSpace Communications™ facility. This unique model delivers to small-to-medium business owners all of the efficiency, productivity and mobility gains of WorkSpace’s unified communications at an affordable price point and without a burdensome capital investment in equipment. WorkSpace Communications™ is one of the few providers to deliver this unique solution on a nationwide basis.

Additionally, WorkSpace Communications™ offers a level of unified communications expertise found in few other companies. The company was founded by a team of veteran business leaders skilled at solving productivity challenges and saving clients money. The company is a Microsoft Certified Partner for unified communications and has on staff a Microsoft Certified Master systems consultant for Microsoft Office Communications Server 2007.

“Our goal is to transform the way small and medium businesses save and compete by delivering them the same cost-saving advantages and productivity gains as a larger company, without having to pay the accompanying capital investment,” says Bryan DiGiorgio, WorkSpace Communications CEO. “These tools help them stay connected and engaged with colleagues and clients, regardless of who is in the office, at home or on the road. WorkSpace Communications™ solutions translate into substantial time and dollar savings, while evolving a business communications structure from fixed to variable – a huge benefit to any company.”
